Ryan's Ramblings

Dear parents, grandparents and friends,

As our term draws to a close I have been thinking and reflecting on what we have achieved over the last 11 weeks, and where we head next.

Thanks to our wonderful community for a very successful start to the school year. We have managed to get through the term with very minimal disruption and have navigated through a number of big ticket events. Some of these include: a wonderful community evening, whole school sports day, 5/6 Camp, NAPLAN testing, Ecolinc excursions and much more. The support our school receives from our community is greatly appreciated and we know that 2023 is going to continue to be a very successful year.

Across the term, our staff have continued to refine our teaching and learning practice in the area of Literacy. Our Foundation to Grade 2 staff have further consolidated their phonics instruction and we have bolstered the decodable resources in classrooms, so that our students have access to the latest research based instruction in reading. Our 3-6 teams have worked hard to implement morphology instruction, which has been well received by our students.

In Inquiry, we have continue to refine our Inquiry cycles, so that the students have more agency in their learning. It was fantastic to see the authentic action taking place this week; especially as the Grade 5/6 students celebrated their newly acquired knowledge of the diverse cultures of the world. Our consultant, Andrea Hillbrick, will continue to work alongside our staff across the year, which we all feel most fortunate to be involved with.

Next term, whilst juggling the great work in Literacy and Inquiry, our focus will shift to refining our Numeracy and Wellbeing practices. We are looking forward to bringing back more consistency in the way we provide numeracy to our students, and also look for more opportunities to involve our wonderful community in school events.

Today, we raised awareness for World Autism Awareness Day. We were all treated to a story read to us by one of our amazing students, Lachie. So many of our friends, classmates, relatives, parents and associates have autism, and I firmly believe that we must continue to break down the many stigmas often unfairly associated with people on the spectrum. I asked our students to consider this statement: Autistic people are wonderful. They have a rich culture and bring great strengths into the world. They often think differently, offer unique perspectives and often communicate these in novel ways. We should continue to walk alongside people with autism, as we can all learn a great deal from each other.

Finally, for those who celebrate Easter, I wish you a fantastic Easter holiday. For those who do not, I hope that you are able to take some time to be with family over the next couple of weeks.

See you all next term!

Ryan

Trixie

It is my pleasure to announce that the recipient of the Term 1 School Values Award is Trixie Harris. Trixie is a highly valued member of Foundation/ One S.

She always arrives at school with a smile and eagerness to engage positively with all learning. Trixie always exemplifies our school values of Respect & Care, Responsibility, Inclusion, Tolerance & Understanding and Excellence. Trixie's peers value and appreciate the kindness Trixie demonstrates towards all peers every day; spreading happiness around our classroom. Trixie always models respect and inclusion towards all members of our school community through her ability to be kind, courteous and supportive.

Trixie consistently exhibits responsibility at school, particularly within her learning. She is always quick to lock into learning and ensures she completes learning tasks to the best of her ability. Trixie shows wonderful initiative in being an organised learner and is always dependable.

We applaud Trixie for always striving for excellence and approaching all learning with a growth mindset.

Congratulations Trixie, you thoroughly deserve the Term 1 School Values Award!

Billie

The recipient of the Term 1 school values award for the 1/2 unit is Billie Robinson.

Billie is a thoughtful, respectful member of our school who is respected by both students and teachers alike. She is always one of the first students to be sitting on the floor in the morning and is ready to start her day with a determined attitude. Billie is a keen learner who always tries her best and presents her work to the highest standard.

Billie is also a considerate and thoughtful member of our class. She has a caring heart and is constantly showing acts of kindness to others. If there is ever a person in need, Billie is the first person to help them out. She will quickly gravitate closer to a classmate just to check that they are ok and give them her well known 'Billie smile'. Instantly, her kindness and care work their magic and the fellow student feels safe and cared for by her.

Billie has the most wonderful manners. We constantly hear the words; 'please' and 'thank you' from her and this is a quality that comes naturally. She always respects others and is a polite and courteous student.

When we reflect on the school values, these come naturally to Billie and she follows these every day. She is a wonderful role model who respects and cares for others, she always includes everybody and understands their differences. She is responsible and always shows excellence in everything that she does.

Billie, I can't praise you enough for just being 'you'. Thank you for making our school a better place.

Jacob

The recipient of the Term 1 school values award for the 3/4 unit is Jacob Fellows.

Respect and Care are two school values that Jacob models in our community to a very high degree. Jacob is a very friendly and courteous member of our school. It is never any trouble for him to look after a peer and he treats others with the utmost respect. Any instruction for Jacob is met happily with the words, 'of course' and I literally think that it makes his day to be able to help others.

Making good choices is something that comes naturally to Jacob. He can always be relied on to do the right thing and he encourages others to do so as well. This is what makes Jacob such a good role model and is one of the reasons why his peers look up to him.

Jacob locks into his learning by being an attentive listener, contributing to class discussions and quickly settling into his learning tasks. Collaborating with others isn't always easy to do but Jacob's communication and negotiation skills allow him to be an effective group member. He embraces learning challenges and knows that mistakes are a sign that we are learning.

Inclusion, tolerance and understanding are three words that encapsulate what makes Jacob so amazing. He doesn't believe in holding grudges, treats every day as a new day and sees things from the other person's point of view. That doesn't mean there won't be tricky days but things are made easier by Jacob's ability to turn over a new leaf.

The learning pit can be a challenging place for everyone. It challenges your confidence and also your resilience. When Jacob launches himself into the learning pit, he knows that his mindset will be challenged. That's why he takes with him a solid understanding of the task, a range of positive self-talk and a variety of strategies to help him climb out of the pit and achieve his learning task. Does he make mistakes along the way? Of course! That is what makes Jacob an effective and impressive learner.

Congratulations Jacob!

Aara

The recipient for the prestigious School Values Award for Term One is Aara Kim.

Aara is a kind, caring and responsible student who demonstrates the school values each day.

Aara demonstrates the school value of Excellence in everything she does. She has a growth mindset towards her learning and gives her best effort when faced with a challenge. She contributes to classroom discussions with thoughtful answers and asks insightful questions to clarify concepts.

Aara takes pride in her work and completes all her learning tasks to a high standard. She takes on feedback and applies it to her learning to help her grow as a learner. She works hard in all classes including specialist classes and achieves excellent results.

Aara shows respect and care both in the classroom and out in the yard. She always includes others to ensure that nobody is feeling left out and constantly lends a helping hand to anyone in need.

Congratulations Aara, you should be very proud of all your achievements!
